

Full Member and Associate Applications

Applicants seeking professional recognition as Full members or Associates should join as Affiliates, regardless of experience. Application packs for membership are available online.

Tax relief

After tax relief, the IHBC's annual fee will cost UK residents less than £90 (or £45 for taxpayers on the concessionary rate) as members may claim IHBC fees as a professional expense against their income.

See more at: www.ihbc.org.uk/join/memb_fees

Low income, student and hardship support

As a registered charity, good value and the affordability of the IHBC's services are a priority.

If you need support for annual fees, whether because of low income, training periods, special circumstances or other reasons that suggest you may qualify for assistance, please apply for our hardship support. This will vary according to needs and applications. However a person with income under £17,500, and volunteering in the sector, such as a student, could expect to pay no more than £25 for a year while in certain circumstances full fees can be reimbursed. Support is only available to members, so before applying you should join the IHBC at the concessionary rate.

Bursaries and reduced rates

IHBC members often enjoy reduced rates at our events and, where advertised, those of our partners.

The IHBC also offers bursary support to members to support attendance at our Annual Schools. The UK charity, as well as many national and local branches, have special arrangements in place each year.

For more details on these offers and arrangements, and to keep up to date, monitor our news service, the NewsBlogs, and relevant sections of our web site.

The home of the CONSERVATION PROFESSIONAL

THE HOME OF THE CONSERVATION PROFESSIONAL

The IHBC offers services, benefits and opportunities that secure effective care and conservation standards for areas, buildings and fabric. IHBC membership keeps you up to date in all aspects of conservation practice, from fabric to places, and to the people that shape them.

COST EFFECTIVE MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

Joining the IHBC opens access to all the resources you need, with regular journals and email news updates, job vacancies and reduced rates to events. Our unique local branch operations also offer the most cost effective and accessible training, programmes and visits.

SUPPORT AND COLLABORATION

Local branch and national networks bring together specialist conservation practitioners, non-specialists working in urban and rural settings, as well as commercial practices, clients, owners and the civic-minded. The IHBC will help you find new colleagues and discover better practice.

PUBLICATIONS

In print and online: regular NewsBlogs and our bi-monthly member journal Context will keep you informed of the latest developments.

WebStarter and TeamStarter: from conservation basics to training programmes for teams working with places, our 30,000-page web resource has it covered.

MARK OF THE CONSERVATION SPECIALIST

Home of the conservation professional

The Institute of Historic Building Conservation (IHBC) is the UK's lead professional body for built and historic environment practitioners working for the conservation, care, regeneration and future of our places. The IHBC supports and regulates standards, promotes effective protection and enhancement, and encourages heritage-led regeneration and access for all.

Mark of the conservation specialist

Membership of the IHBC is widely recognised as a unique mark of conservation competence in historic and built environment conservation practice. Our membership criteria are based on international, national and sector standards and models, from global conservation bodies to the World Bank.

Supporting and shaping conservation

IHBC membership offers support and guidance to help in your skills development, business, job and career prospects. Modern conservation demands diverse skills in how we value, care for and change our historic buildings, structures, neighbourhoods and places. If you work in any of these areas, the IHBC will work for you.

SUPPORT

SKILLS ACCREDITATION

Using internationally recognised standards we assess and regulate conservation practitioners.

BUSINESS SUPPORT

Join IHBC's 'HESPR' conservation business listing, which ties our membership criteria to services, helping clients find the best practice for their needs.

PUBLIC INTEREST

As a professional body and a charity, conservation comes first for us.

INFORMATION & ADVICE

Free information and advice are accessible on our website and from our consultations panel.

Research and other consultancy services are provided for select projects of benefit to the heritage sector.
